Chairman's NOTES

25 and COUNTING

Twenty years ago when Kairos was getting started in Georgia it would take years of working with a prison to persuade them to open the doors to Kairos Prison Ministry. Frequently the most opposition would come from the head of security.

Once we had our first weekend in the prison, however, the change in individuals and in the atmosphere at the prison was so noticeable that the security personnel would come to the reunion to ask what we had done to them. This provided the perfect opportunity to invite the prison employees to come and witness the power of the Spirit at work in Kairos.

God is good! More and more prisons have seen what God can do! When God gets involved anything can happen. This year we may open five more institutions. Taking on the responsibility to open a new prison is a big challenge without a lot of support. Please give as much help as you can. Agreements have been signed at Lee Arrendale and Men's State Prison and we have weekend dates scheduled at Macon State Prison and Rivers. Washington State Prison is in the works.

Please, letters only, no envelopes, folded once with the resident's name on the outside; or else general agape for all on the weekend. No tracts or pamphlets, etc. are permitted. Ron Walling, as District Agape Chairman, will coordinate General Agape with the Council Agape Chairmen.

INTERNATIONAL REPRESENTATIVE REPORT

By Tom Liner

*“Do not major in minors.”
—Spiritual Advisor*

The most important issue to be discussed by the Kairos International Board of Directors at the summer conference will not be the issue of the photograph taken on the weekend and how we can use that photo for sponsorship or publicity. That photograph, where it is permitted, is not the most important thing we do. Nor is the weekend, for that matter, although the Kairos, Torch, or Kairos Outside weekend is certainly the highlight of our fall or spring for the volunteers. The most important thing we do is our faithful and obedient service bringing Christ’s love to those who suffer.

The most important business of the summer conference of your ministry is reaching more of the incarcerated and their loved ones with Christ’s love and sustaining the ministry where we serve now. The photo is no big deal, right? Well, maybe. When the phone conference with international representatives was held, May 2, 2006, we learned that the Executive Committee had restricted the use of the group photograph, and our Advisory Councils in Georgia use that photo in sponsorship efforts to pay for the ministry. So after all the discussion on the phone and reporting to your State Committee and Jim Mauldin, your rep sent a motion to the board chairman Cameron Cooke to reconsider the use of the group photograph. I shall report to you later how that went and if the board changed the rules.

Committee has the authority to otherwise permit or conduct filming, recording or photographing of an actual live KI, KO, KT program including, but not limited to weekends, reunions, retreats where residents, graduate residents or guests are present.”

So there you are. Other matters getting the board’s attention right now continue to be finances. The Donor program for Advisory Councils for fund raising and record keeping should be out this summer. We are told it “looks and feels like Ezra.” I have not seen it yet. And your state committee and Advisory Councils are already dealing with the new Financial Policy. Edd Harrison and the Finance Committee have worked hard on this one.

Other good news from the International office is that Kairos continues to grow. After twelve years of work, Northern Ireland had their first weekend, as you saw in the International newsletter. Honduras is scheduled to begin Kairos in November. And we were told that the new songbook will be printed before the summer conference at the end of July.

Advisory Councils and how they work—and if they work—are highlighted a lot in discussions and committee work. The Advisory Council is the heart of the ministry. And it is far more important than taking that photo. So let me leave you with this question: How is your Advisory Council doing?

Let me be clear here. We are allowed to take the group photograph of the residents and the team on the weekend for the residents and the team. That is, as long as we have releases from the residents. Right now, what we are not allowed to do is give a copy of that photo to sponsors. We are obedient.

There are other restrictions as well, for your information, although they do not generally apply to what we do in Georgia:

“No Kairos volunteer, advisory council or State Chapter

Many folks want to serve God, but only as advisers.

Kairos Principle of “GRADUALNESS”

By Bob Astalos, State Volunteer Coordinator

After observing a number of weekends around Georgia, the most common need I see is for a better understanding of the principle of GRADUALNESS that under-girds the Kairos program.

Some participants come to our ministry seeking God, some are already committed Christians, and many know the scriptures better than most of us team members.

On the other hand, some come to our ministry skeptical of us and our Christianity. Some are suspicious, some are antagonistic, and some are even hostile.

Those who come in praising God and quoting scripture may give the feeling the “whole group” is already close to Jesus, and we’re going to have a great weekend of just pure fellowship praising God...but hidden in that group are the suspicious, skeptical and hostile. Those are the ones we need to be most concerned about “winning over” to Jesus.

In order to “win them over”, the Kairos program is designed on a principle of GRADUALNESS.

People learn by starting from “wherever they are” at present, and adding new ideas to what they already know. So we start by just making friends, and move gradually toward being more spiritual.

Early in the weekend, it is important to “hold back” our spiritual enthusiasm, to insure we don’t drive the skeptical ones “underground”. Don’t be seduced by the participants who start right off by praising God. We can rejoice with them quietly, but to win the skeptical, we need to:

- ☑ Meet participants on Thursday without bowling them over with faith talk.
- ☑ Keep the God talk light during introductions. It’s not uncommon for team members to begin with something like “I love Jesus and I’m here to serve you”, and many of the participants echo that statement around the room as they try to quickly learn what it is we want to hear. Rather than rejoice over what a spiritual group they are, we need to enable them to simply be honest. For that reason, the team should not explode with shouts of “Praise God” when a participant makes a faith statement in their introduction.
- ☑ Avoid initiating hugs on Friday morning. We don’t want to scare them to death by being overly personal ... we’re still just making friends. So we maintain some personal discipline and hold back our fervor for the ministry.
- ☑ The first music on Friday morning should also be restrained. It has long been Kairos policy to begin with “Camp Songs” or songs that are only lightly religious. Avoid loud, boisterous, praise filled outbursts. We still don’t want to scare-off the skeptical.
- ☑ Choices, the first talk, as we all know, makes no mention of God. Although we have already had some meditations about God, we start our talks by focusing on the rational, the logical, to connect with them “where they’re at”.
- ☑ With “You Are Not Alone”, it’s made clear that God is always with us, and introduces us to support from a Christian Community. It’s still pretty much an intellectual idea at this point. That’s why the Agape is so shocking. We’re starting to move deeper.
- ☑ We gradually move toward deeper spirituality and deeper personal sharing ... so we can take the skeptical participants with us.

For those of us who are highly exuberant in expressing our faith, it takes a strong intentional effort to restrain that exuberance and let it out gradually. Even by Sunday morning, various residents are still processing the Kairos experience – in their time – God’s time – not ours.

It also takes an understanding that Kairos is not a one-time-instant-revival, but a gradual winning people over as we share Christ’s love and forgiveness, until God’s Holy Spirit encompasses the entire community.

Our goal is the establishment of long term Prayer & Share groups as the vehicle that gives carrying power to our ministry by creating Christian Community to support the life of faith in the institution.

FROM THE DESK OF THE TREASURER

At our April, 2006 state board meeting I agreed to put in our Newsletter a report on the cost of a Kairos Weekend. I have done this further on in this report, but first I would like to say a few words about the proper way to receive and process Kairos Prison Ministry contributions.

If anyone receives any money in support of prison ministry, and they used Kairos in their presentation to do so, those funds should and must be sent to your state Kairos Assistant Treasurer. (See sidebar: Money Matters) They should not, and must not be deposited in a team bank account. Team bank accounts are never to be used to hold contributions from an outside contributor. They are only to be used for team contributions for team expenses and you are not allowed to use the Kairos name on your bank account.

Effective immediately, any funds in anyone's possession that was received from outside contributors must be sent to the Assistant Treasurer. No Exceptions! And no one is allowed to distribute contributions but the Treasurer.

No one will be refused the money needed for a particular Kairos team, no one. Please get this in your mind, God is the supplier and no one will be left out. We would never refuse to fund a team.

I am not saying that I believe anyone is misusing funds. I just want you to know that if an audit is required I am supposed to know who sent in all contributions and how the money was spent. This can't be done if money is being deposited in other bank accounts. As a Christian organization, made up of brothers and sisters in Christ, we should, without hesitation, be willing to follow all rules of that organization. To deviate from this would not only be wrong, but unchristian as well.

I will now try to show what a Kairos Weekend could cost if everything is paid for at the going price, with nothing contributed. Every team expense report is different, some spending more than others. What I am showing you is probably what the highest price could be.

Meals, Pizza, Poppa Johns	$300.00
Meals, Chicken, KFC	$460.00
Snacks, All Kinds	$1400.00
Office Supplies, All Kinds, Coordinator	$160.00
Drinks	$200.00
Photos	$225.00
Meals at the Institution	$125.00
Total	$2870.00

This is what it can cost, but usually it doesn't, most teams work very hard to keep their cost down.

Edd D. Harrison, Treasurer

MONEY MATTERS

The Georgia Chapter is now following International procedures in handling our finances. Accordingly, we now have three people responsible for handling our monies.

If you have money FOR Kairos, send it to

WEEKEND•REPORTS

AUTRY #14

February 23–26, 2006

Clarke D. Liles, Leader

What a great weekend. The Holy Spirit took control early on and never let go. The participants and team bonded right away on Thursday evening and continued to grow together as one throughout the weekend. It is truly amazing how our Lord can bring together men from all walks of life and bond them together into a tightknit family.

Just a few weeks prior to Kairos #14, a new warden was hired for Autry State Prison. While the new warden had never worked in a facility with a Kairos program, she opened her heart and the facility to our team. She and her staff visited on several occasions during the weekend. The prison's head of security even stopped by to talk to the participants about the opportunities of a relationship with God being presented by our team. We cannot thank the Autry staff enough for their help and support.

The weekend started with a full contingent of 42 participants and 26 team members. Unfortunately, our family lost 2 of our participants due violations of facility rules and regulations. I must mention that it is imperative to constantly remind participants of what is expected of them. Of the remaining 40 participants, there were 7 first time confessions of Christian faith and innumerable re-dedications to our Lord, Jesus Christ. God was working overtime on this group.

Our team members on Kairos #14 did a great job of listening to and loving the weekend participants. Many great relationships were formed during the weekends. Several team members can hardly wait to go back and participate in the Friday night reunions. I feel it necessary to mention the great job of our music team, as this may be the first time I remember weekend participants literally dancing between the rows and in the aisles.

Training for Kairos #14 was the first use of the EZRA program for Autry. The program certainly made it easy for me as lay leader to develop our team, assign jobs and talks, and print training materials for our group. EZRA was also very helpful in developing a schedule that we were able to follow and remain on.

Heard at Closing

- "I didn't know that people still loved me."
- "We are really not alone. Praise God!"
- "God really must care after this weekend."

HAYS #14

March 23–26 2006

Chuck Self, Leader

The 14th KAIROS weekend at HAYS State Prison was an awesome and powerful weekend. This was the first weekend that we used EZRA from start to finish on a weekend.

The irony is that God decided that should happen when He had a leader who was a computer nomind. But in spite of my computer shortcomings, EZRA was very beneficial throughout the entire process. Kudos to Mike Springer, who has a special place awaiting him in heaven!

Beginning with our team formation, God's handiwork in this weekend was apparent. From the time of our advanced leadership training, my prayer had been to try to actually hit the target that had been given us to have 33% of the team be new members. In particular, our community needed more clergy members, and more members who could help interpret for our ever growing Hispanic community at HAYS. Through efforts from the team, and in large part those new team members, we received more than $8,000 in contributions. Our total submitted expenses for the weekend were just under $1,500. We had several additional expenses that were donated by various team members.

We entered the institution with 40 men on Thursday afternoon ... the most men we've ever had on a team. Of the 40, SIXTEEN of those men were experiencing the power of this ministry for the very first time. Exactly 40% of our team were brand new members! And of those sixteen, THREE were clergy. The table of Luke became the table of "Lucas"...and all three of our team members at the table were bilingual.

Our music team was outstanding, and did an incredible job of keeping us alive and active in song in the community room ... while providing music that set the tone for awesome worship experiences while in the chapel. One of our new team members was our music leader, and we were privileged to have Carl Engel help shepherd him along.

Our Agape team did an amazing job in gathering all the letters and posters we always go in with. This time, they went above and beyond in getting team members to have people sign up to pray for the weekend ... doing so on the prayer chain links that EZRA provides. The result was a 300+ yard prayer chain that we were able to bring out, that stretched all the way across that gymnasium. It was powerful for the guys to see firsthand how many folks were praying for them ... and was a recurring reference during open mike when the guys mentioned how that prayer chain made God's love real to them.

Several of the men mentioned to me how this weekend was the greatest weekend they had ever spent in their life.

We started the weekend with 42 participants, and ended with 40 getting their crosses on Sunday. We had a wonderful closing ceremony with the warden of the institution attending his first ever closing. He was given an opportunity to speak, and responded with words that both encouraged and challenged the 40 men who had just completed the weekend. He also spoke of the benefit of KAROS, citing the example of how he was at a previous institution where he saw a significant change in the population there ... once they allowed KAIROS in. It was a special treat to have the warden with us.

We conducted our Instructional Reunion on April 22, where we took in 15 team members and had 30 participants from the weekend in attendance. A number of our participants had already been transferred out to other institutions.

Heard at Closing

- "I have been in prison since I was 18; I am 36 now. I never really got it! I had my own analogies for life. I was shown this weekend the salt of the earth. You KAIROS men are beautiful people. You taught me forgiveness."
- "I'm a thousand miles from home. At night, I am all alone. When I saw that prayer chain come out, and saw how many folks were praying for me and for us ... the tears started to flow. That chain was a blessing."
- "There's a piece of trash that I've been carrying for years. I've asked friends how to get rid of it, but nobody understood. Yesterday, I talked with men who actually listened, and they showed me how I could make it disappear. I didn't believe it, but it worked. God gave me a way to get rid of it. "KAIROS has shown me what it means to have Jesus in my life. I have found what I was missing ... God in my life."

- "I want to tell you how happy I am. I'm 32 years old and this weekend I found God Thank you for leading me, a prisoner to Jesus. I am filled with joy."

- "This weekend has been unbelievable. I'm a cowboy ... and used to ride bulls in rodeos. People think you're crazy, but unless you've ever done it, you don't know the adrenaline rush you get sitting there in the chute getting ready to go out. It was something like I've never experienced ... until this weekend That's how exciting this weekend has been for me."

- "This weekend has been such a blessing and an honor for me to attend That feeling of being alone has been filled by the love of you all and the love of God I have a family now in my brothers."

- "For the last several years I have been going through a spiritual battle and frustration. I have cried out to God to help me through these struggles. I spent six months in isolation. This week I got a call-out from the chaplain to attend this KAIROS weekend. God answered my prayers. I have seen over the weekend Love and Joy without expecting something in return. I can feel the Lord healing me from the inside."

- "WOW! One word! This weekend sure was filled with a lot of surprises! This weekend was wonderful. I can't explain what has happened in my life! I learned forgiving Love this weekend! Wow! Wow! Wow!"

- "I give honor to the special guest who the chair is for here ... who we cannot see, but sure did feel over the weekend. Honor to Warden Upton for allowing KAIROS in to HAYS State Prison!"
